DocNog California Mobile App Automates Medical Provider Search

Bio-Medicine.Org

MURRIETA, Calif., July 12 /PRNewswire/ -- NogWorld LLC, a pioneer in mobile search technology, has launched DocNog, a mobile app designed to empower healthcare consumers to easily connect and access medical providers.

The DocNog California App was recently featured in the "New and Noteworthy" section of Apple's App Store. Future versions of the app will be available for additional mobile platforms, such as Android and BlackBerry.

"DocNog California allows the user to customize their search by zip code, location, physician, hospital, or urgent care facilities, and includes GPS technology," said Michael Gallagher, Co-Founder of NogWorld, a technology and business development company.

Co-Founder Steve Amante points out, "DocNog California enables the user to add appointments, reminders and refer physicians to family and friends. A unique feature of DocNog is the user can make comments and post ratings regarding their medical provider experience. The result: DocNog California takes medical provider search to a new, user friendly level."

In addition to helping patients find doctors, the app is also designed to help uninsured customers locate medical providers. If you don't have insurance with an approved list of medical providers, there is no need to worry; simply search by zip code, and DocNog will do it for you.

NogWorld LLC is leading the development of innovative healthcare applications as well as Health and Wellness related websites such as HealthNog and SaludNog. DocNog California is the first in a series of regional and national healthcare provider search applications.

'/>"/>

SOURCE [1]

Source URL (retrieved on 04/20/2014 - 3:21am):
http://www.mdtmag.com/news/2010/07/docnog-california-mobile-app-automates-medical-provider-search?qt-recent_content=0

Links:
[1] http://www.bio-medicine.org/medicine-technology-1/DocNog-California-Mobile-App-Automates-Medical-Provider-Search-9693-1/