

Echo Therapeutics moves to Philadelphia

Mass High Tech: The Journal of New England Technology

Echo Therapeutics Inc. is no longer a Massachusetts-based company, officials announced in a release Thursday. The medical technology company has relocated from Franklin to Philadelphia.

The move comes just a few months after Echo landed its most recent funding [1], taking in $5.5 million led by its majority shareholder Platinum Montaur Life Sciences LLC of New York. At the time, Echo Therapeutics (OTC Bulletin Board: ECTE) said it planned to use the new funds to boost product development, advance clinical studies and apply to “working capital and general corporate purposes.”

SOURCE [2]

Source URL (retrieved on 01/27/2015 - 12:26pm):

<http://www.mdtmag.com/news/2011/05/echo-therapeutics-moves-philadelphia>

Links:

[1] <http://www.masshightech.com/stories/2011/01/03/daily45-Echo-Therapeutics-calls-on-55M-in-new-funding.html>

[2] <http://www.masshightech.com/stories/2011/05/02/daily58-Echo-Therapeutics-moves-to-Philadelphia.html>