The Associated Press

/FROM PR NEWSWIRE DALLAS 888-776-3971/ STK TorontoVE:NVC IN MTC SU AWD TO BUSINESS EDITORS: Neovasc Inc. Named Medical Device Company of the Year by LifeSciences BC TSX Venture Exchange: NVC VANCOUVER, March 8, 2012 /PRNewswire/ -Neovasc Inc.(TSXV: NVC), a developer of novel technologies used to treat vascular disease, today announced that the company has been named Medical Device Company of the Year as part of the 2012 LifeSciences British Columbia Awards.

Neovasc CEO Alexei Marko commented, "We are thrilled to be awarded this great honor by our peers and colleagues in the British Columbia life sciences community. This has been a tremendous period for Neovasc, as our ReducerT device for the treatment of the debilitating disease refractory angina received CE mark approval in Europe and our biological tissue business has continued to grow. We also are making excellent progress in the development of our TiaraT technology for the transcatheter treatment of mitral valve disease, a common and potentially fatal condition. We anticipate continued good progress in 2012 and are pleased to be able to contribute to the continued growth of the life sciences sector in our region." These awards are presented annually to recognize individuals and organizations that have made significant contributions to the development of British Columbia's life sciences industry.

"This year's award winners are outstanding," says Don Enns, President of LifeSciences BC. "British Columbia has some great leaders in biotech, and the four individuals and one company selected for these awards are incredible innovators. Our sector is world-class, and these winners represent significant achievements resulting in economic growth for B.C." About LifeSciences BC LifeSciences BC is a not-for-profit, non-government industry association that represents and supports the biopharmaceutical, medical device, bioproducts, bioenergy and greater life sciences community of British Columbia through facilitation of partnering and investment, advocacy, education and promotion of our world-class science and industry.
