

BG Medical Welcomes Vertical Farming Expert Nick Brusatore to Scientific Advisory Board

The Associated Press

BG Medical Technologies, Inc. (OTC:RIGH) announced today that a Scientific Advisory Board (SAB) has been established to guide progress for the company's BG Vision and BG Health Services programs. The function of the SAB is to provide advice and guidance in developing new solutions for natural medicinal production, diagnostic device design, and telehealth naturopathy services. The initial focus of the SAB will be on technology acquisitions to facilitate Internet-based solutions for the 50 million uninsured patients in the USA, and patients looking to augment traditional health care packages with cost effective nature-based practices.

BG Medical Technologies is pleased to announce that technology expert and pioneer in the vertical farming industry, Nick Brusatore, has agreed to join the SAB.

Mr. Brusatore is the CEO of Vertical Designs, Ltd., a firm for designing vertical farming technologies related to food and natural medicine production. Nick is the designer of TerraSphere systems and several well-established technologies for cloning and plant tissue propagation. He is an innovative eco-entrepreneur, natural capitalist, mechanical designer, and inventor. Nick has presented on the benefits of vertical farm production facilities and energy saving technologies upon the international stage, including Vancouver, Haiti, New York, and various college universities. Mr. Brusatore also serves as the Chairman of the British Columbia Institute of Technology's Centre for Applied Research and Innovation Advisory Committee.

"BGMT is creating a world-class think tank of leaders in green health technologies," commented Angel Stanz, CEO. "Mr. Brusatore will lend his experience and thought leadership in selecting and improving the best available technologies for use in our naturopathy health care systems, natural medicine, and nutraceutical production." About BG Medical Technologies BG Medical Technologies develops ancillary support services for natural health treatment, patients, and professionals, including its flagship research laboratory and website portal, BudGenius.com. BG Medical Technologies, Inc. currently trades under the symbol OTC:RIGH.
