(the "Company" or "Covalon") (TSXV: COV), an advanced healthcare company, today announced that it is presenting its latest breakthrough antimicrobial products, including the recently United States FDA cleared IV ClearT, at the 2012 Association for Professionals in Infection Control and Epidemiology, Educational Conference and International Meeting ("APIC") from June 4 to 6 in San Antonio, Texas.

Covalon will be showcasing its latest products such as ColActive@ Plus Ag, which is cleared for use by the FDA in the management of diabetic ulcers and other chronic wounds, IV Clear antimicrobial silicone adhesive dressing for vascular access and SurgiClearT, its unique antimicrobial transparent silicone adhesive surgical dressing.

Covalon will also present several vascular access, urological and implantable medical devices coated with Covalon's antimicrobial CovaCoatT technology.

"APIC 2012 is a great opportunity for Covalon's North American, European, and Asian customers, medical professionals, and potential business partners to see our innovative infection prevention and control products" said Brian Pedlar, Covalon's Chief Executive Officer.

APIC's Annual Educational Conference and International Meeting is one of the largest annual gatherings of infection preventionists in the world. It showcases the latest innovative products, technologies and services and provides unparalleled opportunities to engage with infection prevention experts. The 39th Annual Educational Conference & International Meeting brings together professionals from across the healthcare continuum, with more than 200 companies and 2,700 attendees expected at this year's event.
