The Associated Press

NuVasive, Inc. (NASDAQ: NUVA), a medical device company focused on developing minimally disruptive surgical products and procedures for the spine, announced details today relating to its third quarter 2012 earnings announcement, which will take place on Wednesday, October 24, 2012, before the open of the market at 8:00 a.m. ET.

NuVasive will announce complete revenue and earnings details related to the third quarter 2012, update guidance for the full year 2012, and provide a general outlook for 2013. The earnings call has been moved to an earlier date and is now before the North American Spine Society (NASS) annual meeting being held in Dallas, Texas.

The Company also announced the resignation of Jeff Rydin, President of Global Sales, which will be fully effective March 31, 2013. All U.S. sales responsibilities will be assumed by Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Alex Lukianov and all international sales responsibilities will be assumed by Russell Powers, who is newly promoted to Executive Vice President of International.

Alex Lukianov, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, said, "Jeff has been an important member of the senior executive team and we are all supporting him in his decision to transition from the Company. His hard work and dedication throughout the years to build our global sales force will continue to pay dividends as we move forward. I am excited that Jeff has agreed to a long-term consulting position and will continue to work with members of the executive team for several years."

Jeff Rydin, President of Global Sales, said, "My decision to leave NuVasive was very difficult. NuVasive has become and always will be my family. I have been contemplating this for months and discussing my departure with my family and Alex. In the end, this decision is best for me and my family. I am extremely grateful to Alex and the entire management team for supporting me during this process. Moreover, I am excited to execute a smooth transition and continue contributing for years to come as a consultant to the company. I thank the entire NuVasive family for building a company that is by far the best in spine. NuVasive has truly changed spine surgery through innovation, speed, great service and a very special culture that is alive and well. And last but not least, a special thank you to our Global Sales force."

Mr. Lukianov added, "We will immediately begin a search for Jeff's replacement and in the interim, I will leverage my many years of experience executing sales strategies and leading sales forces like I did during my time at Medtronic Sofamor Danek as Senior Vice President of Sales and Marketing and then later as President of U.S.A. While there for six years, I built the sales force and grew MSD to the #1 market share position through a culture focused on innovation and responsiveness. My added interim direct reports are two Senior Vice Presidents of US Sales (West and East) and Senior Vice President of Sales Operations. I am also extremely pleased that Russell Powers will be stepping in to lead our international growth efforts as our Executive Vice President of International reporting directly to me. For the last two years, Russell has been focused on both the product marketing, development, and operations areas of our business. He is now ready to leverage his years of experience while at Medtronic Sofamor Danek. During his tenure there, he held many leadership roles including Vice President of International Spinal and Biologics where his responsibilities included international sales, marketing and development, as well as global operations. Russell is very experienced and well-versed in all international markets with a strong history of prior successes."

NuVasive's principal product offering is based on its Maximum Access Surgery, or MAS® platform. The MAS platform combines several categories of solutions that collectively minimize soft tissue disruption during spine surgery with maximum visualization and safe, easy reproducibility for the surgeon: a proprietary software-driven nerve avoidance system and intra-operative monitoring support; MaXcess®, a unique split-blade retractor system; a wide variety of specialized implants; and several biologic fusion enhancers. MAS significantly reduces surgery time and returns patients to activities of daily living much faster than conventional approaches. Having redefined spine surgery with the MAS platform's lateral approach, known as eXtreme Lateral Interbody Fusion, or XLIF®, NuVasive has built an entire spine franchise. With over 70 products today spanning lumbar, thoracic and cervical applications, the Company will continue to expand and evolve its offering predicated on its R&D focus and dedication to outstanding service levels supported by a culture of Absolute Responsiveness®.
