LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7, 2012 /PRNewswire/ -- BG Medical Technologies, Inc. (OTC: RIGH) CEO Angel Stanz is scheduled to speak on Friday, joining industry leaders at the aptly-timed National Marijuana Business Conference in Denver, Colorado. He appears alongside top industry professionals in technology, business operations, finance, law, and policy reform in discussing trends and forecasts for the medical cannabis industry. Mr. Stanz will focus specifically on Internet-related technologies and the profitable role they are expected to fill as the cannabis industry continues to expand.

"It is an absolute pleasure to be publicly speaking this week from the first state to fully repeal cannabis prohibition. Yesterday's election represents a historic moment that has further opened new frontiers in medical research, Internet applications, and data processing," stated CEO Angel Stanz. "The level of gravitas this moment represents for cannabis industry leaders is immeasurable. It strongly shines the spotlight on the benefits of regulated profit-earning models, stimulating local economies, and state revenues through taxation."

BG Medical Technologies reaffirms its 2013 plans to expand operations into Colorado and Washington State territories. BG Medical recognizes these locations as high-growth regions that will continue to foster development and influence across the national landscape.
