Medical device company Sorin announces the 1st implant of its Paradym RF family of devices, supported by the Smartview remote monitoring systems, in Canada

Italian cardiovascular device maker Sorin Group [1] (BIT:SRN [2]) said its Paradym RF, supported by Smartview remote monitoring, was implanted in the 1st patient in Canada at the Montreal Heart Institute.

The Smartview remote monitoring system sends the patient's data wirelessly from the implantable device to the clinic, where clinicians can be notified about critical and significant changes and review the information via web, according to the press release.
