

Boston Scientific hits 52-week high

Published on Medical Design Technology (<http://www.mdtmag.com>)

Boston Scientific hits 52-week high

Mass Device

Shares of Boston Scientific hit their highest point in a year after the medical device company reported strong 4th-quarter and 2012 results.

Boston Scientific [1] (NYSE:BSX [2]) shares hit a 52-week high 2 days ago and are flirting with another today, as investors react to strong 4th-quarter and 2012 results.

The Marlborough, Mass.-based medical device company's stock hit $7.43 per share Jan. 29, the day it announced its financial numbers. Shares had fallen as low as $4.79 apiece during the last 52 weeks.

Today BSX shares hit that high again, trading at $7.43 each as of about 1:50 p.m., up 1.6%.

Source URL (retrieved on 02/01/2015 - 3:59pm):

http://www.mdtmag.com/news/2013/01/boston-scientific-hits-52-week-high?qt-video_of_the_day=0&qt-recent_content=0

Links:

[1] <http://www.massdevice.com/company/boston-scientific>

[2] <http://www.google.com/finance?q=bsx>