Customers can now receive local and onsite assistance from industry experts and “design for compliance” services that dramatically reduce the cost and time to market for new products.

The tandem of Compliance Dynamics and Nemko combine more than 30 years experience in design and manufacturing in the silicon valley-paced market and a global agency and certification body with market access to over 150 countries worldwide. The first services from the partnership are available to customers based in California and the Pacific Northwest region of the U.S.

Roger Martin, President and Chief Compliance Officer of Compliance Dynamics stated, “Up until today, manufacturers have managed the impact of new regulations on development and manufacturing costs by increasing the price they charge end customers. Now, we are on the threshold of reducing billions of dollars of hard costs for manufacturers by systemizing new product development and compliance process. We are thrilled to have the opportunity to provide these new services to a wide range of industries and customers and with our new strategic partner Nemko USA.” According to Grant Schmidbauer, Senior Vice President Region North America, Nemko USA, “We understand what it takes to make products available for worldwide access and the need for exacting development standards. Our partnership with Compliance Dynamics demonstrates our commitment to customers and our common goal to streamline compliance, reduce product delays, and reduce reworks.
