

Conveyors (761)

Published on Medical Design Technology (<http://www.mdtmag.com>)

Conveyors (761)

The 6200 Series of conveyors is engineered with the company's patented Wedge-Lok System to prevent conveyor end-drive and pulley damage. In harsh or frequently changing production environments, conveyors can be damaged by being moved from one application to another or dropped. The advantage the Wedge-Lok System affords customers is that it protects the conveyor's end from damage by locking the pulley end from moving during a sharp impact.

Source URL (retrieved on 01/25/2015 - 3:49pm):

http://www.mdtmag.com/product-releases/2004/06/conveyors-761?qt-video_of_the_day=0&qt-most_popular=0