

Parts Cleanliness Testing Station

The Surfex-300 is a parts cleanliness testing station for large parts. Smaller parts can also be tested. The Surfex combines ultrasonic extraction, particle measurement, high purity fluidics, and automated software control to save time and increase throughput when testing the cleanliness of complex parts.

- Decreases testing costs

- Software eliminates data variability caused by human error

- Variety of particle counter sensitivities available

Source URL (retrieved on 03/07/2015 - 12:39am):

http://www.mdtmag.com/product-releases/2005/04/parts-cleanliness-testing-station?qt-recent_content=0