

Universal Positioning System

The Universal Post and Clamp Assembly is a positioning system that consists of a base that attaches securely to any flat surface and a series of stepped and straight-through couplings that accept ½, ¾, and 1 in. shafts. Providing the ability to locate and lock items in virtually any position in space, it is used for the final set-up of components and devices used in automation systems, or as an ergonomic assistance tool during assembly.

Source URL (retrieved on 02/01/2015 - 9:36pm):

http://www.mdtmag.com/product-releases/2005/11/universal-positioning-system?qt-video_of_the_day=0