

Ink Jet Printer

The Videojet 1310 ink jet printer is available in North America with a simpler user interface, similar to the popular Videojet Excel ink jet printer. Compared to the previous 1310 interface, users will find the new Excel interface reduces the operator's learning curve and training time, thus speeding up integration. The integration of the Excel-type user interface delivers ease of use and familiarity, while retaining the simple start-up and shutdown process already found on the 1310 printer. The 1310 printer is designed to start and stop without the need for cleaning, with an automated backflushing nozzle that minimizes downtime by automatically cleaning itself at start-up and shutdown, even after idle periods.
