

Bal Conn Electrical Contacts at MDandM Minneapolis 2009

BalSealEngineering

Bal Seal Engineering, Inc. is exhibiting at this year's Medical Design & Manufacturing event (MD&M Minneapolis). At the show, held October 21-22, 2009 at the Minneapolis Convention Center, Bal Seal will be demonstrating its Bal Conn Electrical contacts, which are used to facilitate a reliable, uniform connection between the lead and electronics in implantable devices used for cardiac rhythm management and neurostimulation therapies, as well as deep brain sensing. To learn more about the Bal Conn and many other solutions for conducting, connecting and sealing in medical applications, visit Bal Seal's booth #344 during MD&M Minneapolis. Or, visit the company's Website at www.balseal.com.
