

Exploring the Environment of an Explosion

Georgia Tech

To study the effects of improvised explosive devices on soldiers and help provide continuing treatment, Georgia Tech Research Institute (GTRI) researchers have developed IBESS, a sensor system that measures the physical environment of an explosion and collects data that can correlate what the soldier experienced with long-term outcomes. Read the full story here. [1]

For more information visit www.gatech.edu [2].

Source URL (retrieved on 01/31/2015 - 11:38pm):

http://www.mdtmag.com/videos/2013/04/exploring-environment-explosion?qt-recent_content=0

Links:

[1] <http://www.mdtmag.com/news/2013/04/sensor-system-assess-effects-explosions-soldiers>

[2] <http://www.gatech.edu>